SUPERIOR READINESS

One of Superior's trucks leaves the yard and heads into the night, making sure the customer who called gets the product they need when they need it.

It's nightfall. At most steel yards, everyone left for the day hours ago. But at this Superior Supply & Steel location, a crew just finished loading up one truck which is now headed for the highway.

Why? Because a customer called, a little frantic, looking for plate that he needed...well...now.

And that's exactly the kind of request that Superior is ready to meet today, tomorrow, or any day you call.

Maintaining that Superior readiness starts with significant product availability, in terms of making sure both product range and product inventory are among the industry's best. And, that the product is available at a number of strategic locations across the country.

Then Superior works to make sure all those locations are manned by our own top-notch employees. Service Centers are manned by someone 24/7 so the full line of structural steel products is always ready for your call.

And, of course, to make sure loading, travel, and delivery times are within our control, Superior maintains its own fleet of over 100 trucks. Trucks just like the one that just left that Superior yard tonight.

So if you're ready to experience Superior product range, customer service, locations, and inventory, call us. We're ready.

Remember...we take our name very seriously.
